Welcome to California State University, Dominguez Hills! Thank you for visiting our campus. This guide is provided for your walking tour around our campus.

California State University, Dominguez Hills is a highly diverse, metropolitan university primarily serving the South Bay area of Los Angeles County. Established in 1960, CSU Dominguez Hills is one of the 23 campuses that comprise the California State University system.

CSU Dominguez Hills is a gem with an exceptional cast of faculty, staff, and students. Our state-of-the-art educational institution is equipped with SMART classrooms, new sports facilities, and a serene environment for students to grow and learn.

Questions? Comments? Concerns?

Please contact University Outreach and Information Services:

- Office Location: Welch Hall (WH) 245
- Office Phone Number: (310) 243-3696
- Office Email: info@csudh.edu
- University Website: www.csudh.edu
growth and campus community. Within the Student Union is the University Bookstore. Also, the official voice for students to express their concerns and questions. They also advocate student Associated Students Inc is the student body of CSUDH. ASI advocates for student rights and is the opportunity to write their own performances and plays, giving many Toros the power to outwardly culturally aspects of our campus. All of our plays emphasize contemporary classics to hip-hop and R&B performances. They also give music lovers the opportunity to hear an array of compositions.

2. Student Health Center

Student Health and Psychological services helps students deal both with physical and mental wellness. The Student Health Center is staffed by a group of health care professionals who are dedicated to your well-being. Physicians, nurses practitioners, registered nurses and social assistants provide basic outpatient services for the diagnosis and treatment of acute and subacute illnesses and injuries. Psychological services is primarily for students that want to talk and understand much better such as self-esteem, self-direction, anxiety, depression, motivation and loss. They help students learn how to handle relationship difficulties with loved ones, friends, or family, and conflicts with peers.

3. University Theatre

The university theatre at CSUDH emphasizes one of the most cultural aspects of our campus. All of our plays emphasize the cultural diversity of our campus, by hosting an array of plays that range from serious tragedies to hilarious comedies. Many plays that are considered "classics" (ex: Romeo & Juliet or Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde) are given a modern twist while still being true to the original material. There are 485 seats within the theatre.

Not only do they host plays, the University Theatre plays host to an array of dance performances that range from contemporary classics to Hip-Hop and R&B performances. They also give music lovers the opportunity to hear an array of compositions.

The Loker Student Union is our social center for much of our student activities. As the campus continues to change, its the LSU that is leading the charge. Built in 1992, the Student Union is one of the most noteable events being the Senior Show. Each year art students have their best work showcased in the Senior Show. The art community comes out and helps support these students and gives them a fantastic opportunity to get their name out to the community.

Music and dance can be experienced throughout the LSU. Art community comes out and helps support these students and gives them a fantastic opportunity to get their name out to the community.

A music recital and lecture hall is located within the first floor where many concerts are provided throughout the year, particularly on Fridays.

6. LaCorte Hall

Dedicated to John N. and Marion L. La Corte, whose $250,000 gift is dedicated to positive values of diversity, La Corte Hall opened its doors in May 9th, 1994. This building is generally known as the Arts & Humanities building. The floors are what generally separate the “feel” of the building. The first floor consists mostly of the arts with the floor mainly dedicated to studies (painting, design, sculpture, etc). Two Mac Labs are also located for all students. The first floor also hosts the student art gallery, with one of the most notable events being the Senior Show. Each year art students have their best work showcased in the Senior Show. The art community comes out and helps support these students and gives them a fantastic opportunity to get their name out to the community.

A music recital and lecture hall is located within the first floor where many concerts are provided by students and professional musicians.

The second floor is mainly dedicated to the humanities, the layout of the rooms basically being classrooms for lectures. Digital Media Arts department also situates themselves on this floor with much of their recording equipment located here. The second floor hosts the majority of the music classes on campus. The third floor is mainly faculty and department staff offices.

The first floor of James L. Welch Hall is used mainly for computer-based instruction. It includes five mediated-classroom classrooms, nine computer-based laboratories, two computer workstation rooms, and one 250-seat symposium center known as the Claudia Hampton room, the school’s most technologically advanced room.

The second floor provides a central location for student services that include the office of admission & records, financial aid, university advisement and testing office.

The building itself is named after Dr. James L. Welch (1974-1998), a faculty member and Chair of the Department of Clinical Sciences, and the founder of the Occupational Therapy Program in the School of Health, where he served as Associate Dean.

The Loker Student Union is situated within this part of the campus. As the campus continues to change, its the LSU that is leading the charge. Built in 1992, the Student Union is one of the most noteable events being the Senior Show. Each year art students have their best work showcased in the Senior Show. The art community comes out and helps support these students and gives them a fantastic opportunity to get their name out to the community.

The second floor is mainly dedicated to the humanities, the layout of the rooms basically being classrooms for lectures. Digital Media Arts department also situates themselves on this floor with much of their recording equipment located here. The second floor hosts the majority of the music classes on campus. The third floor is mainly faculty and department staff offices.